A PLUCKY WOMAN.

A PLUCKY WOMAN. Mrs. Eva Jennison's name has been in many mouths the past week. She is generally admired for her "nerve" and decision in nabbing (at the union depot) one J. E. Canfield, a transient from Pennsylvania, who has been working at the shingle mill. He neglected to square himself with Mrs. Jennison for room and himself with Mrs. Jennison for room and board since in May last. He had a scalper's $25 ticket on his person when arrested. It is quite likely Canfield will pay up before his final departure. Mrs. Jennison said:

"Boarding house keepers and even nerchants would do well to draw a moral from this tale: Be quite chary of long continued promises. 'Get the money,'

"Bob" Bruns, well known in and about the Park as a good tinner and genial fellow, has taken to himself a bride—and a pretty one, too. She was formerly Miss Marie Lundegren, of Tacoma.
